Review of Canadians IN LONDON.

Winnipeg, Dec. 3, '00.
At the review of the Canadians at Windsor the Queen was very much affected as the companies marched past in review order. The scene was most pathetic. All the English papers comment at length on the presence in London of the "Heroes of fifty fights" from the Dominion, the event being the feature of the week from a military standpoint point. The Lord Mayor addressed the men at the Guild Hall. The Canadians attended service Sunday in Westminster Abbey.

The War. Big Battle, Knox vs. de Wet

PAGET DEFEATS VILJAEN AND ERASMUS
A big battle is said to be in progress between Gen. DeWet and Gen. Knox. Gen. Paget won a signal victory at Rietfontein over the Viljoen and Erasmus commandos.
Lord Roberts was at Ladysmith and has visited all the battle fields made famous by Buller's campaign.

Kruger has decided not to visit Berlin, the Emperor having sent word that he would be unable to receive him. The snub to the ex-president has greatly rejoiced the London papers.

London, Dec. 2.—A magnificent for congratulations in London is the return of the Royal Canadian regiment from South Africa which affords the editorial writers a glorious opportunity for dilating on the solidity and splendor of the British Empire.

As the Canadians remain, Mr. Kruger, Gen. DeWet, the evil effects of Boers and other adverse features are likely to be quickly forgotten so accustomed has Great Britain grown to reverse. How truly pathetic was the meeting of the Queen and her Canadian soldiers seems to have escaped the English papers. Sitting in a carriage the Queen intently watched the men as they marched by within a few feet of her and she commenced her speech in brave tones. It was only a few words, but before it was finished tears rolled down her majestic face and her voice broke and all the end it was a sob. It is not astounding therefore that when Col. Otter replied it was a trembling voice and not one of the men whom he led into nearly fifty engagements felt ashamed of the grizzled colonel because his cheek was wet with tears. Although so deeply affected the Queen appeared to be enjoying her usual health.

Montreal, Dec. 2. Dr. F. A. Hopkins, a leading young Montreal physician, was killed on Saturday morning by the Grand Trunk express.
He jumped off the steps hoping to regain the train at the rear car and in doing so was struck by the outgoing Brockville train, which was passing and instantly killed. He was a member of various fraternal organizations and was very popular.

London, Dec. 2.—The members of the Royal Canadian contingent were received at the Mansion House to-day by the Lord Mayor and corporation. His Lordship expressed the high honor he felt at entertaining the regiment "whose services to the Empire were so great that they had been acknowledged by the Queen's own lips." The highest honor which could be bestowed on returning troops.

Ottawa, Dec. 2. A sad case of suicide occurred here yesterday afternoon when Arthur Weir, night editor of the Citizen, killed himself at his home by a revolver shot through the head. Death was instantaneous. A sad feature of the affair was the fact of the suicide calling his wife to the bedroom and then shooting himself in her presence. The night before he had written a poem entitled "Farewell," and had put it into type.

London, Dec. 2.—An extraordinary story comes from the continent, from Ireland and from the continent. It seems that the widespread conviction prevails among the peasantry of the Emerald Isle, likewise in many foreign capitals, that DeWet is no other than Charles Stewart Parnell. It is asserted that the coffin purporting to contain his body contains nothing but merely a figure of sand and that after shaving off his beard Parnell made his escape in the disguise of a priest.

Hon. R. H. Roblin and Hon. Robt. Rogers returned yesterday from St. Paul. Mr. Roblin said that he had nothing to disclose either in connection with railway matters or anything else that would interest the public at large. He had read the article in Saturday's News Bulletin in reference to the object of his visit south in which the inference was drawn that he was negotiating with J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, in regard to railway matters and in reply would say that he had never spoken to J. J. Hill in his life.

LOCAL.

—Firemen's smoker on Wednesday night.
—Rev. C. E. Somerset returned to Red Deer Saturday.

—P. E. Lessard and bride returned from the south on Friday.

—Partridges are drumming in the woods, said to be a sure sign of continual fine weather.

—The second assembly given by the young bachelors will be held on Thursday evening in Holston Hall.

—Rev. Mr. McDougall left Saturday for his home in Morley, after inspecting the Indian mission schools in the vicinity.

—R. Ochsner has completed a three story brick addition to his brewery, connecting the brewery proper with the malt house.

—The registration of vital statistics in the Edmonton registration office for November shows: Births, 40; marriages, 4; deaths, 9.

—E. F. Carey, Sr., accompanied by D. McLeod, returned from Chicago on Friday. Mr. Carey was in the hospital for some time undergoing treatment and returns somewhat improved in health.

—Deer are said to be unusually numerous in the woods near town. One man reports having seen twenty in one day. Owing to the fact that no snow it is almost impossible to follow or successfully hunt them now.

—Arthur Carson, of the "Sturgeon," sustained a very painful sprain to his ankle on Friday afternoon. He was jumping down from the separator and slipped into a hole with the results above mentioned. Carson was sent for and dressed the injury.

—The teachers' third class normal session opened here this morning before Inspector Kerrit, and adjourned until this afternoon. The following teachers were in attendance: Misses Boyle, Clarke, Langdon, Reynolds, Kent and Tingley, and Messrs. Buckle and McCallum.

—The C. P. R. cheap excursion rates of the east take effect to-day and last until the end of the month. Tickets good to return within three months. A few tickets were sold at the reduced rate on Saturday to passengers bound for England and who had to make connections with ocean steamers.

—H. S. Young returned from Westsaskin and Duhamel on Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Young. Mr. Young attended the sittings of the scrip commission at Duhamel. Eighty scrips were issued on Thursday and the issue of a few more on Friday would complete the sale of the scrips at that point. The commission goes to Lacombe to-morrow. The issue at Lacombe will conclude the sale of the scrips for the year. Possibly there will be supplementary sittings next year to close up cases which have not been concluded this year.

—The old wind mill on the Indian reserve at Stony Plain, which has for years past been utilized to supply the flour used on the reserve, is being demolished. The Indian department is removing the mill to a point on the lake near the agency house and is installing new machinery to be operated by steam. It is intended to erect a mill of sufficient capacity to grind flour for all the Indian reserves in the district and at points down the river, to which the flour will be taken by scows during the summer. This plan, when in operation, will make a great reduction in the cost of supplying the reserves, as heretofore all the flour used by the department has been purchased from dealers.

—No sleighing—bad excellent wheeling.

—D. McCauley, Strathcona, left on a visit to the old country on Saturday.

—W. R. Hull, of the Gallagher-Hull Co., spending a few days in town on a business trip.

—Two families of immigrants from Minnesota went north this morning, bound for Edmonton—Calgary Herald.

—The Old Timer's annual meeting for the election of officers and transaction of other business will be held in the council chamber on Thursday next the 6th.

—The recent rise of water in the river has caused the formation of a magnificent skating rink on Ross' bar, which is being availed of very generally by the boys of the town.

—An error in the article on crop yield appearing on the second page of this issue gives the yield of oats as from five to thirty bushels. This should be the yield of wheat. The yield of oats is from 20 to 30 bushels.

—W. West has received a photograph of Hilby Fellers taken in uniform, with two of his companions. The photograph was taken in Pretoria and is very natural.

—On the evening of the 7th, a concert in aid of the English church, Strathcona, will be given by the ladies' aid society in Ross' Hall. The concert will be followed by an exhibition of "Mrs. Jarley's wax works."

—Ideal weather all the past week, enabling the threshers to make excellent progress with their work, which is not so slow and unsatisfactory, owing to the immense quantity of straw taken up through the machines.

—Calgary Herald, Nov. 28th: This morning's immigration bulletin: Leonard, Jas. Waldie, wife and family of five from Michigan to Westsaskin; Mrs. Scorch and family of five from the States to Westsaskin. Mr. Scorch has taken a farm in that district.

—There will be a concert and social Friday evening at Sunnyside school in aid of the Methodist church parsonage fund. An excellent programme has been prepared and an enjoyable time is promised to all who attend. There will be an admission fee of twenty-five cents charged. E. Oliver, M. P., will occupy the chair. Chair taken at 8 p. m. sharp.

—The Lacombe Advertiser has resumed publication for the past week, after being suspended for some weeks owing to a terrible shooting accident suffered some months ago by the publisher, Mr. J. D. Skinner, whereby he lost one foot.

—Mr. Skinner's friends in Edmonton, (where he published the Advertiser last year) will be glad of this evidence of his recovery, and Lacombe is to be congratulated on the resumption of publication by his neat and agreeable sheet.

—Robert N. Williams made a trip to Beaver lake and return by way of the new Beaver line road. He went out in 22 hours with a load of 1,500 rounds, and returned in twelve hours without a load. Settlers are coming into the Beaver lake district in large numbers, and an agitation has been started for the establishment of a creamery at or near the south end of the lake. The lake is now frozen over and teams are driven across on the ice. Partridge and chicken are numerous. Mr. Williams will take a trip to his former home near Ottawa, Ont., next week.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, DEC. 3RD, 1900.

TWO AND A HALF MILLION BUSSELS.

As showing the progress of settlement and the extent to which agriculture is now being carried on the following figures showing the total sales of threshers, binders and binning twine in the different agencies at Edmonton and Strathcona, for the year 1900, are interesting:

Binders, 390.
Twine, 250,000 lbs.
Threshers, 22.
5, 25 horse power tractors.
2, 20 horse power tractors.
1, 18 horse power tractors.
1, 15 horse power tractor.
4, 18 horse power portables.
4, 17 horse power portables.
3, 16 horse power portables.
9 horse powers.

The number of binders sold indicates a very large increase in the crop acreage of the district, but it would be unfair to credit the usual proportion of increased sales to increased acreage in this case. When the storm of August 25th threw the crop down, it became apparent that the difficulty of securing it had been seriously increased, and farmers were compelled to purchase binders on account of increased difficulties in harvesting as well as on account of increased acreage. It may be mentioned that although the crop was thrown down badly by the first storm and was afterwards battered still flatly by subsequent storms the binders were marvellously successful in both cutting and binding it. Of course there were cases in which a good deal was left on the ground, but this was on account of the ground being rough or on account of the farmer not considering the crop good enough to spend time on, rather than because it could not have been taken up by the binder.

The amount of twine used per acre was larger than usual, so that the number of pounds sold does not represent as large an acreage as the same amount would in former years. On the other hand owing to difficulty in cutting and scarcity of twine a larger proportion than usual of the total crop was cut with the mower, and was therefore not bound. While this would represent crop acreage it would not represent very large yield, as what was cut with the mower was generally intended for feed. Estimating the amount of twine required per acre at 3 1/2 pounds, the sales of 250,000 pounds of twine would represent 75,000 acres. This acreage may be divided into oats and wheat, as the barley acreage is not large enough to make it necessary to separate it from the two for the purpose of estimating the yield. It is probably fair to estimate one-third of the acreage as wheat and two-thirds oats and barley, or a total yield of 2,375,000 bushels of grain.

Estimating the average yield of wheat at 15 bushels and of oats and barley at 40 bushels per acre would give 375,000 bushels of wheat and 2,000,000 bushels of oats and barley, or a total yield of 2,375,000 bushels of grain.

The large increase in the number of threshers is out of proportion to the increase in the amount of crop but it is plain that all are needed to get the immense quantity of straw through in a reasonable time. The threshers began to run about October 15th, and it is not expected that they will finish until January 15th, even if the present favorable weather continues. Had the severe weather of two weeks ago kept up a great deal of the grain would have remained unthreshed until next spring.

The area covered by the sales of machinery and twine reported above includes the electoral districts of Edmonton, St. Albert and Victoria, and does not include sales at points along the C. & E. line, south of Strathcona. The area of settlement covered lies along the Saskatchewan river for a distance of 40 miles west and 90 miles east, at Edmonton running south fifteen miles and north forty miles. The eastern part of the settlement is almost all south of the river at Beaver Lake being 50 miles south of the river. The grain for the whole of this district is either milled at home or shipped from Strathcona.

The sample of both wheat and oats show very great variety, as do also the reports of yields. There are some good samples of both wheat and oats, but it is to be feared that on the whole the average is inferior. The yields reported vary quite as much as the samples. Oats are reported to run all the way from five—where the crop had been killed—to thirty.

—Calgary Herald, Nov. 27th: Hon. Clifford Sifton, Mrs. Sifton and sister, Hon. Jas. H. Ross, W. W. Cory, liberal organizer at Brandon, and A. P. Collier, private secretary to the minister, passed through the city this morning from British Columbia, en route for east. The party will remain at Medicine Hat to-night to attend a banquet to Walter Scott, M. P.

YET AGAIN.

The news of still another British disaster involving the loss of 400 men and two guns comes as an unpleasant shock at a time when everyone was indulging in the pleasing anticipation of an early close of the war, and particularly feeling assured that the era of possible British disasters was long past. This was a case in which a garrison, within 75 miles of Bloemfontein was attacked and surrendered before reinforcements arrived. In view of the successful defence of Mafeking and of Wepener, the only possible conclusion is that the British were entitled to credit—on the one hand for not holding out longer and on the other for not sending reinforcements sooner. There is only this to be said that if the British have not yet learned to avoid disasters of this kind it is a merciful dispensation of providence which brings them on with sufficient frequency until they do learn. When such a disaster can occur after more than a year's experience of fighting the Boers in the open country, it means that there is great need of a further continuation of the war if the British army is to become what the position of the empire requires that it shall be,—the best fighting machine in the world. In the early stages of the war the unfailing excuse put forward for repeated disasters was that the British officers did not know the Boer style of fighting and did not know the country. These excuses are no longer good; and the bald fact stands out that the average British officer not only does not understand his business, but is unable to learn it, even under the most favorable circumstances.

The Bulletin hazards the opinion that if the same class of officers as have been employed in South Africa had been employed in the reconquest of the Sudan, the Sudan would still have been unconquered. But the army which conquered the Sudan was created on the ground where it was intended to work. The creation of that army was the work not of brass general officers, but of competent subordinates, who were selected by the commander because they were adapted for the purpose for which it was desired to use them. And success accompanied every move. South Africa is teaching the lesson that Kitchener understood so well, and put in practice so successfully in the Sudan. It is to be supposed that when he assumes supreme command in South Africa he will only be upon condition that he will have a free hand to select the officers upon whose judgment and intelligence, more than upon their courage, depends the honor of the empire, and the lives of its soldiers.

A feature of this disaster of DeWetsdorp is that it occurs in the southern central part of the Orange Free State, hundreds of miles distant from what was supposed to be the scene of active hostilities. This means that whatever number of Boers may have come down from the Transvaal has been largely increased by the supposedly loyal farmers in the vicinity. The same conditions exactly as prevailed after the capture of Bloemfontein. The Boers went through the form of surrendering to Roberts as a ready and easy means of getting into position to attack his army in the rear, which they did effectively. There is no doubt that however Kitchener may fail, it will not be by over trustfulness or leniency. The most drastic measures pursued by the late lamented Oliver Cromwell during a part of his military career would seem to be about what the present conditions in South Africa demand. And unless all signs fail, and our friend Horatio Herbert the two ex-republics is likely to be enriched shortly with a few lurid pages, which will give Olive Schreiner something upon which to base her next annual shriek against the empire; whose great crime has been that it has too long allowed respect for liberty to stand in the way of the maintenance of liberty with the strong hand.

STRICTLY ANTI-BRITISH.

"Striped of all political authority and power, devoid of country and kindred, Paul Kruger stands to-day before the people of civilized nations as the most undimmed figure on the stage of world politics. He is popular because of the people's sense of wrong as well as their sense of justice.

"He speaks the protest of the convulsed people of all nations against the overthrow of two republics simply to serve the ambition of an empire. He stands for patriotism, courage, devotion to principle, and for that sort of faith that gave to one his Christian martyrs, and to another the republic of the United States."

The foregoing is from the editorial columns of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the leading paper of the dominant republican party published in the heart of the United States. The Bulletin produces the extract as an evidence of an absolute and utter lack of sense of the ridiculous.

THE CAMPAIGN IN QUEBEC.

From the Globe.
Montreal, Nov. 17.—Le Journal, the new French conservative paper established in Montreal by Sir Charles Tupper published on the morning preceding the election, the following attack upon Hon. J. Israel Tarte, the supporter of which was that he was "not time before that Sir Charles Tupper, speaking in Ontario, said: 'Laurier is not half British enough.' This is one more example of the policy of deliberate duplicity followed by the conservatives during the whole campaign. The article is a double-column headed article, which means all the prominent French opinion of Mr. Tarte, and continues: 'He expects that his relation with the French government at Paris, and particularly with M. Picard, the director of the exposition, the Hon.

I. Tarte wrote in the English language. He, the great Canadian patriot, the minister of Laurier, another boastful patriot who asks the French-Canadian workmen to vote for him at the next election, has renounced his language in France and, we are assured, had the foolishness, in reply to an official letter of the French administration, which asked that all the correspondence from the Canadian section should be in French, to write the following phenomenal letter:—

"It appears to me that M. X.—has really the right to write to me in English, which is the language of the greatest empire in the world."

"Israel Tarte."
"Some time before in a speech Hon. I. Tarte boasted of his French sentiments, protested his love for France, turned all the English against him by his silly talk, and, on the other hand, estranged all the French by his illogical letters, which gave the lie to his speeches. In order to punish Mr. Tarte and make him feel his lack of tact, up to his departure from France the French commissioners, we are told, wrote to him in English every time they had business with him, a thing which did not happen very often, for we can understand that relations with him were not agreeable. It was time for Mr. Tarte to leave France. What the papers would have said of him would not have flattered him, if he returns he will get what he deserves. We shall see which is the Hon. I. Tarte; neither French nor English nor Canadian, he will be everything that people would like provided he profits by it. He is a man with two faces, and a comedian. It is thus that he has been judged in France. His speech at the banquet of the federation of the Empire of Brittany, where he reproached the French for not loving Canada as much as he, Tarte, loved France, earned for him a protest from the great French geographer, Omer Reclus, a protest which at this moment is making the round of the French press, and which probably will be everywhere when he will go to France, if ever he will put his foot there again."

Here are some extracts which Le Journal of Montreal quotes from M. Reclus:—

"You have quoted a few lines which I wrote some years ago in my book, called 'A Bird's Eye View of the World' in which I blame France for not thinking enough of Canada. Well sir, I am to-day more severe on Canada than I was. It was Rameau who made French-Canada known to France. Rameau who died with his mind disabused of his first impressions, and who suffered much from the policy which you carried on, and at the end of which, it appears to us that you will cease to exist. Who will have said that at the dawn of the 20th century you would number scarcely more than 1,000,000; that you would send no soldiers to the North, that without saying one word you would allow this country of your future to be invaded by all the cranks, the eccentrics, the most undisciplined peasants of Europe? Our colonization work had just aroused among us an enthusiasm, an extraordinary devotion, for Canada. It was the long-looked-for hour, it was the psychological moment, and you have not profited by it. If we could have believed in so little intelligence, in such baseness of conscience, in such want of patriotism, we would have kept our order and our money for old France. You will find in France speculators, financiers, bankers, but no sincere affection, no patriotic devotion. Those who are the cause of it have ignored Canada, France and the future of our race. They have treated honest people as rogues are treated. Your governments are no longer sincere. Those who go about collecting immigrants, Menonites, Hungarians, Galicians, Doukhobors, Poles, to stifle the French-Canadian germ in the northwest, have not said a word to do justice to the real settlers; they do nothing for immigration from France. How could you ever make us understand that in a country of 'fair play,' under a government called constitutional, the three-tenths of the people pay taxes for their own destruction to speak plainly, for of whom use are the enormous sums that you vote for purposes of immigration except to drown more of you each year in a hostile sea? Constitutionally, you have the right to three-tenths of the subsidies. It is sought to overwhelm you with a couple of every nationality, and you have never said 'Halt!' and there is always the exhausting plague of emigration. And you do nothing to favor immigration from France to Canada, quite the contrary. For Heaven's sake be a man of honor, a patriot, a defender of the French-Canadians, a leader of your people. Show that you really have the sentiments that you utter, and prevent us from writing a book against Canada and her politicians."

Having quoted this attack upon Mr. Tarte for not being "French enough," Le Journal of Montreal continues: "To send a letter Hon. Mr. Tarte did not imply; he did not feel that he had heard enough for a patriot, a true Canadian. Neither will he have the heart to defend the interests of the workingmen of Montreal, and one may be sure he will not bother himself with them if he is elected. The Hon. Mr. Tarte is an egoist, thinks only of himself, lives only for himself; the electors who have any heart and any sense of honor cannot vote for him. It would be a shame to elect him. What would we say to a stranger if he was elected in preference to a workman? The workingmen understand it, and on November 7th will send Mr. Tarte to his farm at Valcartier, near Quebec."

LACOMBE

The anniversary services of the Presbyterian church, were celebrated on the 25th. The ladies of that church gave a dinner on the 30th, and afterwards a musical entertainment was furnished to the guests.

Roy Reynolds and his sister, Miss Reynolds, left to-day for Edmonton where they will attend normal school. Miss Reynolds took an active part in musical circles here and will be greatly missed.

The wife of W. Shales gave birth to a daughter on the 25th.

At Lacombe on the 26th, A. Garros and Miss Mackley were united in marriage, also on the 26th, G. Motley and Miss V. Jackson, by Rev. H. Cairns.

Our merchants have received their supply of calendars for the new year. Those issued by Mr. Burdick, the local furniture dealer, are very handsome.

R. J. Hutchings and W. Barwis, of Calgary, have been visiting our town this week.

Miss Boyd, our pioneer teacher, has been very ill, but is improving nicely. Our local paper has again resumed business much to everybody's pleasure.

Rev. T. Glover, of Toronto, has been here on a short visit. While here he preached in the Methodist church on the 25th.

W. P. French, of Ohio, is now assisting in the "Advertiser" office.

BANQUET TO WALTER SCOTT, M. P.

Medicine Hat News: The banquet tendered by Medicine Hat liberals to Walter Scott, M. P., at the Assiniboia Hotel on the night of the 28th, passed off successfully and pleasantly. The attendance taxed the capacity of the large dining room, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. Medicine Hat people turned out in large numbers, and there was a number present from the ranching country. Hon. Clifford Sifton, minister of the interior, Hon. Jas. H. Ross, and R. Williams, Regina; Dr. De Veber, M. L. A., Lethbridge; Mr. Grady, Macleod; Messrs. Rutherford, Shaw, Ryan and Coons, Swift Current; Mr. McKerracher, Walkerton, Ont.; Messrs. W. A. Douglas, Chas. Blair, J. J. English, and W. R. Abbott, Maple Creek, were among the visitors from a distance.

The service provided in the Assiniboia was beyond anything yet attempted by Mr. Ross and was deserving of the highest commendations, and compliments it is needless to say were profuse. His table was beautifully set, luxuriantly covered, and prettily decorated with cut flowers—chrysanthemums, roses and carnations. The room was decorated with flags and pictures of the Queen, the premier and the cabinet graced "the walls."

Dr. J. G. Calder, president of the Liberal association, presided, with Mr. Scott on his right and Mr. Sifton on his left, and Mr. Burton, vice-president, occupied the vice-chair, with Hon. J. H. Ross on his right and Dr. De Veber on his left.

Regrets were read from—Frank Oliver, M. P., A. L. Sifton, C. M. Brown, W. Grant, T. C. Johnson, Mr. Bulyea and others.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Macleod Gazette, Nov. 23: On Monday the news was received in Macleod of an accident on the Crow's Nest line at Blairmore by which John McDiarmid lost his life and three others were or less seriously injured.

Mr. McDiarmid was bridge foreman on that line, and the bridge-gang's train of four cars was standing on the main line at Blairmore when another freight train from the west, without, it is said, the usual warning, crashed into the rear end. The rear car contained the tools, trolley, etc., of the gang; the next car contained a private compartment for the foreman and the dining and sleeping cars followed. The crash came when the rear car with its paraphernalia was hurled right into and cut up the next car in which was Mr. McDiarmid, he being inextricably entangled in the wreckage. Before he could be removed the material took fire and the onlookers were horrified to see the body a few minutes before full of life being consumed. There is not the least doubt, however, that the unfortunate man was quite dead before the flames enveloped him, as he was neither seen to move nor make a sound after the accident.

Three other men were more or less seriously injured and are now inmates of the Macleod hospital. One of them, a Chinaman, was pinned under the wreckage and saw his coat, containing over $100 in bills, burn up before his eyes. The casualties would certainly have been more numerous and serious had it not been that a number of the men were down by the engine, something having gone wrong.

OUR FRIEND, THE CHINOOK.

Medicine Hat News, Nov. 20: Without out the chinook winds this part of Canada would be a poor portion of the world in which to attempt to win anything from the face of nature. The district is not a country suitable for farming. Without the tempering influence of the balmy chinook we could lay no claim to being a stock raising and grazing district without a peer in Northwestern America. If our winters started in the middle of November and held on until the end of March with steady cold, the herds of cattle which could be handled would be limited to the stabling accommodation and the amount of provisions which the rancher. With our friend the chinook rendering the assistance which is essential where out door stock raising is to be carried on, there are herds on our ranges which number up to thousands and they know not what a cattle, having never seen one. Their home is the boundless prairie, with its nutritious grasses in winter as in summer, their shelter a wooded ravine or abrupt out-bank, their covering the starry canopy of Heaven; and the product of this life is probably the hardest, best finished animal production to be found anywhere. The hand of nature is to be seen in the coming of the chinook winds and the disappearing of the snow from the bench lands, so that the grass in mid-winter as in mid-summer.

One of these chinooks visited this district last week, and it was welcomed after the fashion that has been in the arms of the frost king for ten or eleven days. After a week's cold weather, when it had come to be monotonous, the frequent question was, "When is the Chinook coming?" Friday night it was 10 below zero, at half-past seven Sunday morning the thermometer showed 4 below zero; about quarter past eight the looked for chinook came with a rush and its influence was at once felt; by half-past eight the thermometer was at 23 above zero, or a moderation of 27 degrees in an hour; at ten o'clock it stood at 34 above, the wind lifting the snow and whirling it from the bench lands into the hollows. All day Saturday and Sunday the balmy wind blew from the southwest and changed the winter into moderate weather. Most of Monday the temperature was above the freezing point in the shade, and like summer in the sunshine.

CANADIAN NORTHERN.

Prince Albert Advocate.

Mr. L. M. Campbell of Prince Albert, has returned from a trip to the end of the Canadian Northern railway where he went as enumerator for the late election. It is therefore, with much pleasure we give his account of the progress of this railway as it will settle the question as to its coming this year.

The track is completed to Red Deer River about 100 miles east of Stony Creek. Grading is completed some ten miles west of the river, and the right-of-way is cleared some ten miles further on, leaving only eighty miles between actual building operations and Stony Creek. They to forty men are now working on the right-of-way, and a large gang of men and about fifty teams are at work building supply depots and stables at frequent intervals ahead of the clearing. These depots are being filled with provisions and all necessary supplies while the trails are frozen, and consequently good so that when the work of construction is being pushed in the summer, no delay will be experienced in dragging necessities over swampy roads. The nearest of these depots as yet is at Crooked river, forty-five miles east of Stony Creek, and as they are dotted all along the right-of-way, there is no doubt as to the direction in which the road is heading. At Crooked river the road is emerging from the heavy timber, and the land is first class all the way here from that point.

At Red Deer river a turn table and sidings are being put in, and a large bridge is being constructed, 75 to 100 men being engaged at present on this work.

AS TO LOYALTY.

Regina Leader: Living in a free and healthy atmosphere—which makes its crimes worse—the Macleod Gazette asserts that—

"Quebec has endorsed Tarle and disloyalty."

The assertion is both mischievous and wantonly false. Quebec endorsed Tarle to precisely the same extent that it endorsed Hielding or Sifton or Patterson or Cartwright. Quebec emphatically endorsed Laurier, his government and his policy, and the statement that this means endorsement of disloyalty, if it were not so mischievous, would be utterly ridiculous.

In a remarkably pointed fashion Quebec has endorsed the sending of military contingents from Canada to South Africa, the most "loyal" act ever undertaken by a Canadian government. The conservative campaigner in Quebec, the spokesman of which was Campbell No. 6, was that no contingents should have been sent and that Laurier was too stupid to do so. Quebec's answer—no hesitating answer, either—was that Laurier is not too stupid to send the contingents. Every Quebec member who voted in the House of Commons on this subject, and the contingent was either defeated on 7th November or elected with a much reduced majority. Chauvin, one of the most outspoken antagonists of Laurier's action, was beaten by Profranchise, one of the most outspoken in favor of sending the contingents.

Quebec did not endorse disloyalty. Quebec endorsed the sending of the contingents, the giving of a tariff preference to Britain, the imperial project, the building of a round-the-world, all-British cable. Quebec gave a stinging rebuke to the party whose leader, like the Macleod Gazette, tried to make political capital out of "loyalty."

TURNIP LAKE.

Several improvements to personal property are in progress in the settlement. The school stable is completed. E. Dean and W. Rowland are building frame stables on their places, each building being 40x18 feet. Hugh McKay is also building a large stable, also frame. The day of log buildings for this district is fast passing away.

Wm. McKay and R. C. Iredale have left to spend the winter in a warmer climate. Either of them or both may return in the spring.

John A. McDougall has purchased the south quarter section of the Laurier farm in this district.

Threshing is almost finished here. Oats have yielded well generally. Wheat cut before the snow storm is a good sample and yields fairly well. Most wheat cut at this time will only make feed. Your correspondent called on John Kennedy the other evening, and work with his threshing. Mr. Kennedy informed me that in ten or a half days, on his own farm, he had threshed 17,000 bushels of wheat, over 2,000 bushels of which was wheat and the remainder oats. His oats yielded about 60 bushels to the acre and he had about 22 bushels. Last week Mr. Kennedy threshed 3,000 bushels of splendid oats off a 60 acre field and off 55 acres of oats Alfred Hutchings got about 3,000 bushels. These are facts, but they do not fully represent the crop produced. Owing to the lodging of the grain by snow a large percentage of the crop was lost. The lander could not get under it. On most fields fully one-third of the crop was left. Mr. Kennedy's threshing is about one of which he is justly proud. Another good crop I have noticed is Edward Dean. He has about 5,000 bushels of oats and about 22 bushels. Kennedy's mill is now threshing on the Hutton farm, Surgeon settlement. Messrs. McRoberts have the crop this year of 400 acres.

Nov. 26th, '00.

HORSE HILLS.

Threshing is mostly done, oats averaging well. On Wednesday evening a party of young men gathered at the home of Mr. Joseph Wilson and pleasantly spent the evening in dancing. Messrs. Fraser, Clarke and Bryan furnished the music.

STRATHCONA HORSE.

Comptroller Fred White, of the N. W. M. P., has received from Colonel Steele a letter, dated Pretoria, October 17th. The Colonel says the regiment had given over their horses to British cavalry corps and returned to Pretoria, expecting to start for home, but were asked afterwards to remount and put in another few weeks in the field. The counter orders were due to a scarcity of recruits for the Transvaal, which he would remain, probably six weeks. Very few of Strathcona's horse are willing to enter the Transvaal constabulary or stay in South Africa.

CANADIAN CASUALTIES.

Ottawa, Nov. 26th: The following cable was received to-day: "Cape Town, Nov. 24, 1900, Scott, Strathcona Horse, accidentally killed at Potchefstroom, November 21. (Signed) MILNER. Private L. B. Scott was of 'A' Squadron. He belonged to Regina. Ottawa, Nov. 26: A cable was received this morning from Sir Alfred Milner stating that No. 355, Gunner E. Watt, of 'D' battery, died at Waterkloof on November 18. Ewald Jones, at Port Hope. His next of kin is Mrs. T. Ward. Ottawa, Nov. 26: Sir Alfred Milner cabled to Lord Minto as follows: "Cape Town, Nov. 27—280, Trooper R. Deering, of Strathcona's Horse, was severely injured by a fall from a horse at Potchefstroom, on November 18. (Signed) Milner. Trooper Deering belonged to C. Squadron. His brother resides at Deer river, Man."

NO POLITICS.

The Calgary Herald in an editorial on the prospective Territorial election in West Canada says: "We believe we are right in assuming that grit and loyalty have no legitimate place in this election. For heads on both sides may dispute this proposition because it does not fit in with their pet schemes and prejudices, but the calm judgment of the great majority will, we believe, frown down any attempt to introduce Dominion party lines at this stage. They may come later, but we find no justification for their adoption now."

Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, the railway magnates, have decided to erect immense pulp mills at Fort Francis next summer when their Canadian Northern railway will be completed to that point. The capacity of the mills will be greater than any now operating in Canada. Pulp work for 50 years to come is abundant in the neighborhood.

ABOUT THE MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

The Toronto Star.

Ottawa, Nov. 21th.—The government have decided, after discussing the matter fully, to have an early session of parliament. Generally parliament has been summoned about the middle of February, or later. It has been the custom since Confederation that the session be called for January. The last occasion when it met in January was by reason of the remedial bill, when Sir Mackenzie Bowell and the cabinet decided to coerce the province of Manitoba.

The date of the approaching session will be fixed for the latter part of January or not later than the beginning of February. Last session parliament met on February 1, and the year previous on February 3. Owing to the time taken up with the general elections it was not expected that the government could have been ready to meet parliament so soon, but they are anxious to meet with the popular desire for a winter session, so that the members may be able to get through with their work before the warm weather arrives.

There is not likely to be a long bill to face from the government, and therefore there can be no good reason why prorogation could not be reached early in May. A good many of the long speech-makers were defeated, and this alone ought to shorten the session by some weeks.

CONSERVATIVE LEADERS.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 25.—At a grand rally of the conservatives held Saturday night Sir Hibbert Tupper and the Hon. N. Clarke Wallace were the principal speakers. Mr. Wallace's speech partook of the nature of an ovation. He said in the liberal campaign in Quebec were men like Mowat and Bourassa who had proven traitors to their country. He referred to the fact that Sir Wilfrid had to be forced by British sentiment to send troops to South Africa and he had heard Sir Wilfrid say that he did not feel the same sentiment as a British born citizen, and that the French had reinstated him to power because he was French. He also referred to Mr. Tarte's speech in France, when Sir Wilfrid had stated that the French Canadians were waiting for the time they could throw off the British yoke.

Sir Hibbert Tupper in speaking of the Hon. Clifford Sifton, referred to him as the Napoleon of the French dynasty now overshadowing Canada, and stated that Mr. Sifton had seen Vancouver recently with such a bad Yukon character that Mr. Frank Burt, the president of the liberal association, was ashamed to sit on the same platform with him.
